they do still have the annoying time wasting surveys but they also have those really cool video feeds a lot of the videos are the same videos that you are watching on facebook for free so they are interesting there are many different categories like food and politics and you pick what block of videos you want to play i let the videos run on another one of my computers while i m doing other things because it creates a nice background noise and the videos don t distract me from my work even when there is a great one that catches my full attention for about 90 seconds today s video stream has been all about food recipes and tutorials so while it s running and earning bucks i m writing this post there are a lot of really cool things on this site
